The Christian Student Center of the University of North Alabama will be hosting a debate between Apologetics Press author Kyle Butt and University of North Carolina professor Bart Ehrman. Professor Bart Ehrman has written more than 20 books, including the New York Times bestsellers Misquoting Jesus, Jesus Interrupted, and God’s Problem. He is the James A. Gray Distinguished Professor of Religious Studies at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. He is a self-avowed agnostic who claims that the pain and suffering he sees in the world make it impossible for him to believe that the Christian God exists. Thus, the debate will be on the subject of suffering and the existence of God. Ehrman will be affirming: “The pain and suffering in the world indicate that the Christian God does not exist.” Kyle will be denying that proposition.

The debate will be held on the campus of the University of North Alabama (UNA) on April 4, 2014 at 6:00 p.m. in the Norton Auditorium, which seats about 1,700 people. Due to the limited seating, and the expenses incurred to host the debate, the Student Center is currently selling tickets for the event. Tickets are $10 each. They can be purchased from the Student Center by visiting their website at www.unacsc.com and clicking the “Purchase Debate Tickets” button to the right. The ticket can be purchased and printed from any personal computer.

For those who are unable to attend in person, GBN will be live-streaming the debate beginning at 5:30 Central Standard Time at www.gbnlive.org. The debate will also be streaming on all GBN outlets, including: the GBN Roku channel, iOS, Android, and Windows Phone 8 devices and cable networks which carry the Gospel Broadcasting Network. Stay tuned after the debate for interviews with Kyle Butt and Bart Ehrman for their thoughts about the event. We have estimated that approximately 75,000 people watched Kyle Butt’s last debate online and in remote locations.

Since most months have 4 Sundays, a month with 5 Sundays frequently provides congregations extra income beyond the normal budget. Some congregations choose to set aside fifth Sunday contributions for special causes or evangelistic works. Historically, GBN has received tremendous help from churches who have donated these funds to our work in broadcasting the gospel. March has 5 Sundays. Would your congregation consider designating a portion of your contribution to the work of GBN?

We are always thrilled when people notify us of conversions in which GBN played a part. On February 3, 2014, Linda Mann was baptized into Christ. Prior to obeying the gospel Linda was a member of the Church of God of Prophecy. She began an online study with a member of the church of Christ. Linda would study every day and late into the night. The brother who was studying with her told her about the Gospel Broadcasting Network, which is carried as a local cable channel in the area in which she lives. Linda began watching GBN regularly and her knowledge grew. Finally, she contacted the McCaysville Church of Christ in McCaysville, GA and spoke with the preacher, Keith Ritchie. Brother Ritchie said that when he arrived at her house to study, she had the TV tuned to GBN.

In addition to Linda Mann, brother Ritchie has informed us that GBN also played a role in the conversion of others who are now members of the McCaysville Church of Christ. These include Cecil Wilson and the Jones family (Brandon, Stacy, Trevor and Caitlin). Prior to obeying the gospel Brandon was a deacon in the Baptist Church. We are very pleased to know that the work we are doing is resulting in souls being added to the body of Christ, as well as strengthening existing Christians.

As the director of programming I am excited to share with you some of our recent developments at GBN.

For some time now, we have made it our goal to encourage congregations to set up satellite studios that can be used to film local preachers in their particular region of the country. We are starting to reap rich rewards from this. You may have noticed that some of your old favorite programs have not aired on GBN for some time now. Thanks to the various satellite studios providing convenient filming locations for speakers, some of the old popular programs will soon be airing once again.

The McMinnville, Tennessee studio at the Central congregation will be the new taping location for Bible Round Table with Brooks Boyd. Brooks is joined by two guests in the studio to discuss various subjects in a back-and-forth manner. This program had been out of production since the closing of the Ringgold facility, but will soon begin production in the new location. Additionally, Shield of Faith will also shift their taping to the McMinnville studio. This location is closer to the speakers on the program which will increase the number of episodes recorded.

Freed-Hardeman University’s on-campus television studio will be the new recording location of David Wade’s GBN Q&A. Joining David in answering the submitted questions will be various speakers including Dr. Sam Jones and Dr. Justin Rogers. We will be adding other guests from the area to the program as well.

The new studio in Tupelo, Mississippi that is operated by the Gloster Street congregation is now recording the Dayspring program. This studio is a full HD studio and will be providing the Dayspring program to compatible local markets in high definition. We’re very excited after seeing the picture quality from the new studio.
